

OCTAE Connection Flash Edition October 7, 2020

Apply to Be a NASA Community College Aerospace Scholar and Inspire the Next Generation of the STEM Workforce

NASA Community College Aerospace Scholars (NCAS) wants to connect with two-year degree seeking community college students to inspire them to become the next generation of the STEM workforce. NCAS gives community college students an opportunity to learn from experts about NASA's missions and current research in an online self-paced course. Students who succeed in the course may have the opportunity to attend a NASA experience where a NASA scientist would lead them in a competition with other like-minded students. To find out more or to direct students to the application, please visit the program website. The application will remain open through Nov. 18, 2020, 11:59 p.m. CST.
