

November 2019

Happy Fall!

Small businesses are the backbone of our economy, creating two out of every three new jobs in America. The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) allows local workforce systems to support youth and adults gain the entrepreneurial skills necessary to engage in work as an entrepreneur. This month we highlight resources that amplify entrepreneurship as a service strategy.

WIOA Qualifying Activities Supporting Entrepreneurship

WIOA qualifying activities supporting entrepreneurship include skills and education training; career awareness and counseling; and services providing labor market and employment information about in-demand industry sectors.

WorkforceGPS is full of successful practices, tools and webinars that highlight the various work-based learning strategies. We have gathered many of these resources in one location, taken from a number of communities including Apprenticeship, Innovation and Opportunity Network, LMI Central, and the Self-Employment Assistance Center. Additional resources are constantly being added as this approach to learning becomes more and more recognized as a win-win for the individual and the employer.

Supporting and fostering a culture of self-employment assistance (SEA) and entrepreneurship is an important priority for the public workforce system. The following Workforce System Strategies resources provide insights relating to effectively initiating and supporting this priority, including:

- Begin With the Basics the basics of launching a SEA program;
- A Study of the Self Employment Assistance Program – Helping Unemployed Workers Pursue Self Employment a study of five state SEA programs;
- Small Business Administration toolkit a toolkit resource commissioned by the SBA; and
- The Anatomy of an Entrepreneur a survey of entrepreneurs' observations about factors that affected the success or failure of their own efforts in starting small businesses.

Services to Veterans

Veterans' Day may be November 11, but veterans and eligible spouses receive priority of service every day for all Department of Labor (DOL)-funded job training programs, including WIOA programs. To make sure that these servicemen and women receive these important services, DOL has developed several resources that provide easy access to career exploration tools, training, and jobs. WorkforceGPS has created a resource page that is designed to provide links and information for workforce development professionals regarding services to veterans and their spouses.

Military Spouse Resource Center

Compared to civilians, military spouses are 10 times more likely to have moved to a new state in the last year due to military relocation. For those who work in licensed occupations it can be time-consuming and costly to obtain licensure in a new state.

The Military Spouse Resource Center is a collection of resources addresses a range of employment challenges and links to organizations that provide support to military spouses and families; including education and business development.
