

Community Investment Tax Credit

Give locally and double your impact.

THE COMMUNITY INVESTMENT TAX CREDIT (CITC), EXPLAINED

What is the CITC?

A state program endorsed by three successive governors, the CITC provides a 50% tax rebate on gifts of $1,000 or more to Community Development Corporations.

What's a Community Development Corporation (CDC)?

CDCs are community-based organizations that improve lives and expand opportunity by building affordable housing, providing job training, and making other investments in people and places.

How does the program work?

Give to a local CDC, statewide through United Way, or directly to MACDC by visiting macdc.org/citc. The receiving organization will help you complete a form to receive a 50% tax rebate.

Where will my money go?

Over the past decade, CDCs, have created tens of thousands of homes and supported hundreds of thousands of families and small business owners. You can expand this work in your community and throughout Massachusetts.

Help strengthen your community and Massachusetts today.

To learn more or make a qualified investment using the Community Investment Tax Credit, visit macdc.org/citc.