This NOFO supports comprehensive service networks addressing untreated mental illness and substance use at the intersection of mental health, substance use, and justice systems. This program responds to the growing burden of endemic vagrancy, disorderly behavior and public safety threats faced by law enforcement agencies often positioned as first responders to situations better addressed by health and social service systems. Law enforcement and justice agencies nationwide need actionable alternatives that prioritize both public order and appropriate treatment settings for those experiencing mental illness or substance use disorders. This initiative supports coordinated, direct intervention efforts across public safety, justice, mental health, and substance use agencies to increase access to mental health and substance use treatment through civil commitment, institutional treatment, and step-down approaches from pre-arrest through reentry, using accountability measures that ensure compliance with treatment plans. This program moves beyond temporary interventions by utilizing appropriate institutional care and civil commitment processes for individuals unable to care for themselves. These interventions will reduce the burden on law enforcement and the justice system; restore order in communities affected by homelessness, mental illness, and substance use; decrease recidivism; reduce crime; and improve overall public safety and restore confidence in public spaces.
Specifically, this NOFO provides funding to enhance an entity or network of entities providing services in four core areas:
(1) Crisis Stabilization Centers: 24/7 crisis receiving/drop-off centers with dedicated law enforcement access and protocols, no-refusal policies, and capacity for rapid assessment, stabilization, and civil commitment evaluations for individuals who pose a danger to themselves or others or demonstrate a grave disability.
(2) Treatment Services: Comprehensive mental health and substance use treatment, including medication-assisted treatment (MAT), overdose prevention, recovery support, extended observation beds for stabilization, medication bridging services, and reentry services. Programs must prioritize treatment approaches that demonstrably reduce homelessness.

(3) Housing Access: Transitional housing providing short-term residential support for individuals exiting crisis stabilization or justice-involved settings who would otherwise face homelessness, with requirements that individuals comply with substance use disorder treatment or mental health treatment as a condition of participation.
(4) Electronic Health Record (EHR) Systems and Technology Modernization: Funding may be used to enhance EHR systems and other related technology (e.g., telehealth) in and across correctional, crisis, and community settings to improve data collection, coordinated service provision, data sharing, and continuity of care during incarceration, prior to release, and through reentry in the community.

BJA: Local Law Enforcement Crime Gun Intelligence Center (CGIG) Integration Initiative

Deadline: TBD March 2027

Amount: Up to $300,000 to expand an existing site; up to $700,000 to implement a new site, including no-cost training and technical assistance.

Match: No

Link: https://bja.ojp.gov/funding/opportunities/o-bja-2025-172358

In collaboration with ATF, the Local Law Enforcement Crime Gun Intelligence Center Integration Initiative supports law enforcement agencies in the establishment and expansion of CGICs to address firearm-related crime. CGICs are an interagency collaboration focused on the timely collection, management, and analysis of crime gun evidence, such as shell casings and semiautomatic handguns, using ATF's National Integrated Ballistic Information Network (NIBIN) and Electronic Tracing System (eTrace).
Eligible applicants may apply under one of the following categories:
Category 1: Expansion of an existing CGIC
Category 1 supports local law enforcement agencies with established CGICs to enhance their operational effectiveness. Successful applicants will demonstrate a strong track record of using ballistic evidence to solve violent crimes—including documented NIBIN inputs, leads generated, firearms recovered, and arrests made that directly improved public safety in their communities.
Category 2: Implementation of a new CGIC
Category 2 supports law enforcement agencies establishing CGICs for the first time to strengthen their ability to combat violent firearms crimes. Successful applicants will demonstrate a clear strategy for partnering with ATF to create a comprehensive system for collecting, analyzing, and acting on ballistic evidence and firearms intelligence.
Applicants of either category could propose a regional approach, by including surrounding jurisdictions as subgrantees or by providing them NIBIN access. The regional approach is strongly recommended for smaller rural jurisdictions to help demonstrate the need, and for larger jurisdictions as a justification for expansion.
Applicants must clearly state to which category they are applying and may not apply under both.
Applicants should refer to Application Contents, Submission Requirements, and Deadlines: Budget Detail Form for information on allowable and unallowable costs that may inform the development of their project design.

Community courts are neighborhood-focused court programs that combine the power of the community and the justice system to address local problems. They connect persons committing less serious crimes—often misdemeanor cases—to judicially supervised drug treatment, alternative sanctions, and other community-based services. Community courts enhance public safety by addressing underlying issues that lead to criminal behavior, including substance use and behavioral health issues. By engaging communities in planning and operational processes, they provide justice system officials with more effective options in dealing with lower-level offenses, enhance public trust in the conduct of justice, and help to reduce unnecessary incarceration. The types of cases community courts accept vary depending on the communities that they serve. Courts in residential neighborhoods are more likely to address housing, environmental issues, and youth crime, whereas those in downtown areas prioritize issues such as homelessness and disorderly conduct.

Since 2001, NACOP has assisted police departments throughout the United States with their K-9 programs. The K-9 Partnership program has proven to be one of our most successful and rewarding programs. Unfortunately, many police agencies do not have the funding to maintain a police canine program. Many of these are small to midsize departments that simply do not have the budget to include this service. In many cases these small communities have become a haven for drug traffickers. These criminals know that the police do not have the resources to adequately protect the public from them. For most of these communities, it would only take one dog, one trained police canine to help rid the community of this criminal element.
