

JEFFCO's I Love Reading Challenge

The ENC: Educational Nonprofit Organization

Would like to invite you to participate in a challenge that supports your student's love of reading. This coming READ ACROSS AMERICA DAY think about, "Why reading is so important to a child's life and their learning experience."

If you could have students participate in creating a JEFFCO I love to Read book, this would help to benefit the district, schools and get students brainstorming about why reading is so important to them.

Writing & Illustration Criteria for Challenge:

Please have your students fill in the statement: I love to read _____ and then create an illustration to go along with their statement.

Criteria is to please place the illustration on a 8 X11 normal sheet of paper with one statement that explains why they love to read.*

We are inviting all grade levels (K-12) to participate in this contest. Teachers, please choose 1 entry from your class to be submitted to the district. From those class winners, a committee will choose one student's work from each grade level across Jeffco to be published. The Winning Entry from Each Grade Level will be awarded a Tattered Cover Gift Card for their

"I Love Reading" Statement and Illustration!

Deadline for Challenge: February 20th, 2016.

Please submit all students' work to Barbara Banning @

 Additional information for publication will be submitted to the winning student and their parents once they are chosen.*
