

Dietary and Food Service Manager State Certification Course

February 13-17, 2023 in Marksville

The Louisiana Nursing Home Association (LNHA) invites long-term care professionals interested in becoming certified as dietary and food service managers to attend this five-day in-person workshop on February 13-17, 2023. On days 1-4 of the workshop, attendees will be trained in various food operations, including food purchasing, preparation, and menu management. The course will also review nutrition principles. The assigned clinical practicums will prepare each participant to document nutrition information, ensure food safety and manage work teams.

Day four of the workshop, February 16, will conclude with a dietary manager certification exam and on day 5, February 17, the ServSafe training will occur and the ServSafe certification test will be administered. The ServSafe test is required if 1) you have never completed it or 2) your current ServSafe is expired. For attendees who are actively certified, only the first four days of attendance are needed. The course instructors will be Leigh Anne Burns, RDN, LDN, John Hickson, CCA, CDM/CFPP, and Jeff DeMars, LNFA.

After completing the course, participants will be able to:

- Utilize the systems approach to procure, produce and serve food to all residents
- Provide a safe and sanitary environment for all employees and residents
- Exercise fiscal accountability in purchasing
- Utilize human resource management techniques
- Provide appropriate quality nutritional care for the residents
- Meet all state and federal licensing and regulatory agency standards
- Constantly strive for a person-centered care approach
