

WEEKLY NEWS

We had a short but wonderful week. The children are working very hard to complete all of their work on time. In Math, we are focusing on one more, a precursor to addition. They did a wonderful job identifying and gluing their numbers in order. In Language Arts, we are adding to our sight word list and using them in a sentence. The children also are doing a great job with their word walls. The handwriting continues to improve; now we are choosing the best letter on the page and circling it. We are breaking the habits of writing from bottom to top. In Religion, we continue to enjoy Bible stories and relating them to our life today. We are learning many different prayers. Art continues to be a much anticipated special! Mrs. Locke keeps most of the art work for the show in May. All art work will go home at the end of the year. DRA's have started and I will let you know your child's score at our conference in November. We also learned about allergies with a story read by Mrs. Falter. The children then made posters depicting healthy vs non healthy foods.
