

Our Week in Review

Dear Parents,

I want to thank everyone for the very successful Halloween Festival on Wednesday. A special thanks to Mrs. Leonard for planning the event. I am truly blessed to have such an amazing group of parent collaborators!

It's that time of year when germs and illnesses spread quickly among the children. At this age they are very susceptible to catching what might be ailing the children near them. We have had quite a few friends out sick over the past week. Please review the guidelines Nurse Bonnie sent home to all families outlining when to keep your child at home. She is available to answer any questions you may have regarding the St. Rose wellness protocol.

On November 14th, 15th, 16th we will hold our fall parent/teacher conferences. Preschool students will be dismissed early on those days.

Dismissal will be at 11:30 AM. "Sign-Up Genius" will be online over the next few days in order for you to schedule a conference

Language/Literacy:

This past week the children heard the story, The Little Old Lady who Wasn't Afraid of Anything. The children really enjoyed acting out the motions of the story. Following the story, the children followed up with literacy activities that aligned with the story.

We have also been quite busy working on creating alphabet poems.

Math/Science:

In our math center this week, the children worked on patterning using stampers.

Religion:

In recognition of All Saint's Day, the children listened to stories about a number of different saints. The children created crowns and we explored ways in which they can be like Jesus and the saints, acting with love and kindness towards each other.

Important Dates

Tuesday, November 6th - No school (Teachers Professional Development Day)

November 14th-16th- Parent/Teacher conferences - 11:30 AM dismissal

I am still collecting milk/water jugs for a project.

The newspapers have come in handy! I will continue to collect newspapers whenever you are able to donate them.

Have a wonderful weekend!

Mrs. Amanda Delaney
