EXPLORING THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF HYMNS

Most of you have heard me talk or write about the life-changing experience I had in July 2000 as part of a hymn-writing workshop held at Boston University by The Hymn Society in the U. S. and Canada. Spending a week with individuals who were, or were soon to become, 'stars' in the vast firmament which is the creation of texts and tunes for Christian hymn singing, was indeed momentous for me, and not just because I was well-nurtured and consoled by these fine colleagues when I received the news of the Lexington Presbyterian Church fire.

Being led, in that Boston experience, to delve more deeply into the rich store of hymn literature – old and new, helped me to understand more fully how central and essential a good hymnal can be to the worship and fellowship of any church. The PCUSA's Glory to God hymnal (the purple one!), published in 2013, is a fine example of what a hymnal should be. The compiling committee of this hymnal took advantage of a huge quantity of new hymns written/composed in the last decades of the twentieth century. The predecessor, The Presbyterian Hymnal (1990) was a worthy and much-needed successor to hymnals (1955 and 1972) created for the 'southern' and 'northern' Presbyterian denominations before their reunification in 1983.

If we look at the wonderful generations of hymnals created for the larger denominations since the middle half of the twentieth century, we find evidence of the ecumenism that arose out of our increased ability to travel and to communicate, both in our country and around the world. The work of hymnal editors has provided us a way of understanding our shared faith with Christians from past centuries. When we say/sing hymn words dating back well over a thousand years, we are reminded of our roots and of the communion we have with all of those who have used hymns to worship over so many centuries. If we compare the contents of the major denominational hymnals, we discover that well over half of their hymns are common to all of them. This shared 'core' of great hymn literature (texts and music) is strong proof of ecumenism in our nation and world.

Glory to God is the most recent of the major denominational revisions. Its compilers were able to incorporate a huge quantity of new material by expanding the number of hymns contained to just over 850 (over the ~600 in The Presbyterian Hymnal). This increase allowed for many fewer hymns to be 'retired' and, in fact, a number of wonderful older hymns (the ones I call the 'golden oldies'), missing from the 1990 book, were brought back.

If you have a hymnal at home (any hymnal), I urge you to explore it. Discover one new hymn text every day. Read it, meditate on it, and, as you are able, sing it. In a subsequent newsletter, I'll offer you some tips for using the internet to access an amazing number of hymns, from all countries and time periods, and in every textual and musical style, running the gamut from most to least formal – but all, heartfelt and led by the same Spirit.

Youth Spotlight: James Baker

My name is James Baker. I am currently 14 and am a freshman at Rockbridge County High School. Among other things, I enjoy hanging out with friends, playing saxophone, reading, and playing games. Ever since the sixth grade, I have been attending Youth Group at Lex Pres. In the time I've been there, three different people have led it. Regardless, I have done many fun activities there. From playing games in the church to just talking, it is always a great time to go, eat, hang out, and learn something new. However, COVID forced the Youth Group to shut down. It was hard, first we lost our youth director and then immediately unable to meet. However, soon Andy stepped up and we were having a good time. Sometimes we met socially distanced, while others we played Jeopardy over Zoom, it was a good time for everyone there. Personally, between my love of games and hanging out, this was a nice thing to have while locked down at home. Some weeks the meeting had a multitude of people, while other times only a few came. Even through pandemics and shut downs, we still managed to meet and have fun.

Kendal News

An update from LexPres members and friends at Kendal at Lexington

Much has changed these many months, and we're all making adjustments in our lives for safety during the Coronavirus Pandemic. Here are some of the ways that Kendal residents and LexPres are still cooperatively participating in our church during these times.

On Sunday mornings we gather in Kendal Hall to see the worship service via Zoom on the big screen. Between 13-19 residents gather each week and participate in the service. Several other Kendal residents watch the service individually in their own residences. Most of those who do attend in Kendal Hall would not otherwise be able to participate since they don't do have electronic devices. John South is our "techie" who sets up the reception for the Zoom service on the big screen. Kimberly Kennedy kindly prints up copies of the Bulletin, the weekly and monthly newsletters, along with any special notices and then delivers these to the front door of Kendal each week. I pick up the packet and set it out on Sunday mornings. Folks gather and get the bulletin much as they would at church and sit spaced out in Kendal Hall. An added benefit for some is picking up the headsets to better hear the service.

On a beautiful fall afternoon in October, Tom and Leslie Groome came to an outdoor "Meet and Greet" time on the patio of Sunnyside House. Twenty-three of Kendal's LexPres members came during the hour and a half period and enjoyed chatting both with the Groomes and each other. Mary Raine Paxton and Louise Hasselman made cookies for the occasion.

And of course, for many years before the Coronavirus Pandemic, LexPres paid for the Kendal bus to drive some residents to the church service on Sunday morning.

On behalf of all of us here at Kendal, let me thank all of you who have worked so diligently these many months to produce the worship service in the new format which we can all continue to worship on Sunday's and the many other ways that we feel part of the life of LexPres.

With much appreciation,

Dianne H.

Rafiki Report—A Celebration of 35 Years

The history of Rafiki began in 1946 with Rosemary Jensen when, at the age of seventeen, she attended a youth missions rally. Impressed by the experience of the missionaries, Rosemary dedicated her life to foreign missions. She never lost her vision.

Later, she married Robert Jensen, a doctor, who was also called to the mission field. In 1957 they moved to Tanzania with their 2-year-old daughter, where Rosemary taught the Bible, and Bob practiced medicine and established a 450-bed hospital. Her goal then, as it is now with Rafiki, was to teach Africans to know God and help them raise their standard of living.

Nine years later and two more children, then Jensens returned to the states, where Rosemary became the teaching director of Bible Study Fellowship. She says now that looking back she realizes that God uses every experience in our lives to prepare us to do special work for him. With her brother an Richard Walenta she began the Rafiki Foundation. Rafiki sent out its first missionaries in 1985 to serve at the Kilimanjaro Christian Medical Center in Tanzania. Later, college professors, craft teachers and other professional would serve in various roles all sent to teach the Bible.

In 1992 the First Lady of Uganda requested help with the 1.5 million orphans in that country. This was the first of the African countries to request help with the millions of children orphaned by AIDS. In 2000 Rafiki prayerfully and gradually opened orphanages in ten African countries as support from the U.S. grew: Ghana, Malawi, Tanzania, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Uganda, Liberia, Zambia, Rwanda and Kenya.

Aware that education is the best way to help people raise their standard of living, Rafiki build schools and developed the classical Christian curriculum for grades PreK-12. This curriculum is available to African partner schools. Rafiki now educates thousands of day students in the ten counterisl where they are located. African teachers are being trained to educate the next generation from a Biblical perspective, crating the Rafiki Institute of Classical Education (RICE) Program.

The Rafiki Widows Program was started in 1988 when two missionary couples were sent to Tanzania to help women make ceramic jewelry that they could sell for a living. Products of many kinds are now sold at the Rafiki Exchange in the home office in Eustis, Florida, and online at <https://store.rafikifoundation.org/>. Proceeds from these projects all go to the widows.

The Rafiki Bible Study, with appropriate questions and commentary for all levels, PreK-12, was written by Bible teachers and is used in the denominational partner schools as well as the Rafiki Schools. This study is now being used in this country as well.

It is with gratitude and humility that Rafiki celebrates 35 years of ministry – gratitude for God in his un-failing faithfulness, and gratitude to the many people who have supported Rafiki through prayer, money, and other efforts. It is truly God’s Sword at work.

Prayer Requests:

1. Peace and stability in the African countries, and our own, especially during elections.
2. For the children on home study to remain strong and true to the Lord as they wait to return to their village and for God to help them witness to family and others.
3. Wisdom and guidance in opening schools safely and productively.

The Christmas Joy Offering

Nov. 29 - December 20, 2020

In the lead up to Christmas, we have an opportunity to give gifts that help many people we do not know through the Christmas Joy Offering. These gifts in particular draw us back to the manger and God's perfect gift to us — Jesus Christ. During this Christmas and Advent Season, we celebrate leadership; past, present and future through support of the Christmas Joy Offering. We also support the offering to help our future leaders in the church and world, like those educated at our Presbyterian related schools. For those supported through the Christmas Joy Offering, this help is truly a gift from above.

Please make plans to give generously • Text "LexPresVA ChristmasJoy $<amount>" to 73256 to give using your mobile device.

Use our online giving form: <https://onrealm.org/lexpres/give/ChristmasJoy>

Plans for the New Year!

CAT SURVEY NEWS TO BE DELIVERED EARLY NEXT YEAR

The CAT (Congregational Advisory Team) has met twice to process the vast and encouraging amount of data received from the CAT Survey sent out to our 511 members. With the response from 154 people, we are beginning to get a clearer picture of who we are as a Church, where we want to go, and the best way to get there as we are in the process of finding a new Minister. We ask your patience, but we want you to know that a full report will be made to the Congregation early in the new year! Hopefully, we can make that report in person.

Until that time, take care and stay safe.

- Mac Baker, Kevin Burke, Sandy Nye and Liz Shupe

BOOK DISCUSSION COMING EARLY NEXT YEAR

In early in 2021, Rev. Tom Groome will lead a book discussion series on the book, CASTE: The Origins of Our Discontents by Isabel Wilkerson. Wilkerson's latest book explores the unrecognized hierarchy in America, its history and its consequences. Caste became an instant New York Times bestseller, was named the summer/fall selection for Oprah's legendary Book Club and was longlisted for the National Book Award.

From your Director of Culinary Ministries

I like to try different recipes and occasionally I get one that I do not believe with work. Now for years, I have been a flaky, pie crust kind of guy. I use all purpose flour, salt, sugar, fat, and ice water. I cut in the fat (either butter or Crisco), add sugar and salt, and finally ice water. I follow the traditional mixing, cooling and finally rolling.

My aunt gave me a recipe to try for "Impossible Pie" which is made without crust. This must be totally gross! I tried it and to my surprise, it was a very good dessert. It is so simple that I can make it for a last-minute dessert.

Are you up to a challenge? Here it is!

Impossible Pie

Ingredients:

½ Cup Bisquick	¾ Cup Sugar
4 Eggs	2 Cups Milk
1 Cup Shredded Coconut	1 Teaspoon Vanilla
1 Tablespoon Butter (softened)

Directions:

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Cream together the sugar, butter, and eggs, Add milk, Bisquick, Vanilla and coconut. Mix well. Pour into pie plate. I spray the pie plate lightly with release spray (Pam) so the slices come out easily. Bake at 400 for 30 minutes or until custard is set. Enjoy.

If you have a special recipe that you would like to share with me and our readers, please send it to me. Access my email HERE.

I look forward to seeing your special recipes. Skip

Session approved that if in-person worship is scheduled to take place on Nov. 1, there will be in-person at 11:00 and the Wholeness and Healing service at 5:00 with cleaning between services.

Major Report of the Financial Committee-The Chair, David Hawkins, shared many documents with session ahead of the meeting for prior study. With the shut-down, our total intake of offerings/pledges is running about $100,000 less than the amount pledged. He predicts that we will end the year with a shortfall of $75,000-$80,000. Developing a budget for 2021 for the church will be challenging. The committee has asked each elder to fill in a survey concerning the ranking of areas of focus to help guide them in putting together the budget.
