

Donate Blood In Honor of Haley

In October of 2017, Haley was diagnosed with the CLN1 version of Batten Disease, a rare inherited disorder of the nervous system, with no known treatment or cure today. Those affected suffer progressive neurological impairment leading to blindness, seizures, loss of motor skills, loss of speech, dementia and, ultimately, death. She is just nine years old. Haley lives her life as a song. She dances and sings when others might just watch. Her world is one of glitter, unicorns and magic. Although she has lost most of her sight, she still water skis, snow skis, and roller skates. She has more courage than most adults. Batten Disease will steal her magic and her childhood. We cannot just stand by and watch the song disappear from her soul without fighting. Join us in our fight for a cure! www.haleysheroesfoundation.org
