

God's Peaceful World

God promised that when the child came, wolves and lambs would live together in peace.