Have You Heard About the Alternate Pathway to Diploma?

Do you know that school districts across the state are hard at work creating access to a high school diploma for learners with significant cognitive disabilities? If your youth falls into this category, then this presentation may be of interest to you. Topics discussed include:

- Guiding legislation and statutory requirements for the California Alternate Assessments and how LEAs are creating this new pathway
- Resources to support families and IEP teams in understanding and implementing the Alt Pathway for all eligible students
- Which team members in your district and schools are critical in planning and implementation of the Alt Pathway – and what questions you may want to ask

Access to a high school diploma allows every student the opportunity to show what they know, like, and feel, leading to greater self-determination and post secondary opportunities.
