

Museum welcomes new staff member

HIGH POINT — Tamara Vaughan recently joined the High Point Museum staff as communications coordinator.

Her responsibilities

Tamara Vaughan

include marketing, communications and public relations work.

She also will coordinate community events at the museum, such as the annual Holiday Open House and National Night Out.

Vaughan holds a bachelor's degree in Art History from Wheaton College in Illinois and a master's degree in History.

She also obtained a Museum Studies focus from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

She previously worked with the Hayden-Harman Foundation on its "I Believe in High Point" project.