

HPU students win 1st place for COVID-19 documentary

SPECIAL | HPE

A group of communication students recently won first place in the High Point University Communications Fellows' "Building Bridges" film competition. The students created, filmed and wrote the documentary titled "Empty Sanctuary," interviewing nearly a dozen different experts, pastors and congregation members about how COVID-19 is affecting churches, and what the future looks like for the church. The students include Drew Dacey, from left, Spencer Cook, Nicholas Masalleras, Brittany Secraw and Ben Frondorf.
