

Meeting Of The Minds 2026 The Next Generation Is Watching

For over four decades, riders have gathered at Meeting of the Minds to defend the freedoms that make motorcycling what it is today.

The riders who came before us built organizations. They fought legislative battles. They challenged unfair regulations. They protected the rights many riders now take for granted.

Today, we benefit from their commitment. Tomorrow, others will benefit from ours.

The future of motorcyclists' rights will not be secured by history alone.

It will be secured by the riders willing to step forward and carry the fight into the future.

That means identifying new leaders. It means sharing knowledge. It means encouraging involvement.

And it means making room at the table for the next generation of motorcyclists' rights advocates.

Every year, new attendees walk into Meeting of the Minds for the first time.

Some arrive curious. Some arrive uncertain. Some arrive simply wanting to learn more.

Many leave with a new understanding of the challenges facing motorcycling and a renewed commitment to becoming part of the solution.

That is how movements survive. That is how organizations grow. That is how leadership is developed.

Meeting of the Minds isn't just about the battles we're fighting today. It's about preparing the people who will fight tomorrow's battles.

If you've already registered, consider bringing someone with you. A younger rider. A future leader. A first-time attendee. Someone who cares about the future of motorcycling but hasn't yet discovered how they can help protect it.

The strongest organizations are not built on what they have accomplished. They are built on who comes next.

September 23-26, 2027 -- Rapid City, SD -- Plan for it NOW!

Because the future of motorcyclists' rights depends on more than the riders in the room. It depends on the riders who will one day take their place.
