

CACRME is organizing the 2023 China Academic Committee for Responsible Management Education Annual Meeting & Sustainability Management Education Roundtable Forum scheduled on May 17-19. I drafted the theme for the meeting and forum as "Sustainability-oriented Business Education Transformation: Legitimacy, Innovation, Leadership". At present, we could ensure the participation of the UN PRME Head Prof. Mette Morsing with a very high possibility. A Nobel Prize and Blue Planet Award laureate Prof. Mohan Munasinghe would come to support the meeting.

If you could come to participate in this meeting and forum with your colleagues and students, that would be a great opportunity to bridge our further collaboration and promote youth exchange. You may schedule a one-week travel plan, including the arrival at 16/17 to Shanghai, 18-19 in Suzhou, 19 (after lunch)-20 (before dinner) in Changzhou (near Suzhou), and another two days of your free leisure time in the best season in the Yangtze River Delt region, one of the most economically developed regions in China. Of course, if you want to take the chance to have some field study and interview, I am very happy to help you get contacts.

Btw, I have organized some students to translate the Club of Rome series reports of Earth4All. In next month, we will launch a series of Salon/workshop to introduce and disseminate our translation work to more youth and students in and beyond our university. I could not stop thinking the crazy idea of organizing an online exchange/discussion between students on the broad topics of the Earth4All.
