Good morning everyone! How about that warmth and sunshine this weekend? I am keeping my fingers crossed that the rain stays away and we can have some outdoor recess this week! Attached is our weekly newsletter. Please read it to stay up to date on what we are learning!

Last Wednesday, I sent an email with students names for Valentine's! If you need me to forward the email again please let me know.

We started a new month so new behavior logs and reading logs will be going home tomorrow. Also, please make sure you sign and return your child's report card as soon as possible. I use the same one all year.

All students got new books last week. Please make sure you are reading every night. Again, this can be them finding sight words, letters, etc. Also, at the beginning of the year I sent home a list of comprehension questions to stay in their book baggie. Make sure you are asking 2 or 3 of these. Comprehension is a big portion of guided reading.

We have MAP testing this week as stated in the newsletter. We are starting right at 8:15. Please try to have your child at school no later than 8 so we can take a bathroom break and not rush our morning before the test. Make sure they eat a good breakfast because it will cut into our normal snack time.

Don't forget about the book swap on Thursday! It is from 5-7 PM.

I hope you all have a fantastic Sunday!
