Good Morning 4th grade families!

I hope you all had a great weekend and got some well deserved rest! We are wrapping up February and heading full speed ahead into March. Hopefully all of this rain will be left in February.

Dr. Seuss week is this upcoming week and I have attached the schedule as well as putting it in our important dates.

We are in need of some classroom items! If there is anything you can donate, it would be greatly appreciated.

- Disinfectant Spray (Lysol)
- Printer Paper
- Coloring Items (crayons, colored pencils, markers)

Important Dates

Monday 2/25: Dress like a cat or wear your favorite hat

Tuesday 2/26: Wear crazy socks

Branches of Government Test

Wednesday 2/27: Wear your wackiest clothes

Thursday 2/28: Wear your favorite's team apparel or dress up like your future career

Friday 3/1: Wear your PJ's

4th Grade Happenings

Math: We will be starting ch. 8 on Monday and will be dealing with fractions (woo!). This week we will be working on different lessons such as simplest form and equivalent fractions. Students will be having a math project this week. It is their responsibility to work on this throughout the week and it will be due Friday. We will also have our multiplication fluency facts quiz on Friday.

Reading: In Grammar, we will be working on abbreviations. In Reading, we will be tying in our new PBL unit, Solar Systems, into our reading time and be learning about different moon phases. Students are to work on their packets throughout the week and will be due on Friday. We are back with our spelling groups and students will be given their assigned words tomorrow. The 5 high frequency words are:

- eight
- enough
- sentence
- though
- favorite

Writing: We will be introducing TDA's (Text-Dependent Analysis) this week in writing.

PBL: We will be reviewing for our Branches of Government test on Monday and will be testing on Tuesday. On Wednesday, we will be having our entry event to our new PBL unit, Solar Systems. I will send a copy of our rubric on Wednesday!

If you have any questions, please feel free to email me or message me on Class Dojo!
