UCC GREEN TEAM PRESENTS:

SONGS, STORIES, DISCUSSION, AND LAUGHTER WITH PAUL BAKER HERNANDEZ

GUEST PERFORMER VISITING FROM NICAURAGUA

Saturday May 27, 4pm, Peace Dale Congregational Church, Community Lounge, Columbia St

Paul is an Environmental Activist who can describe the worsening status of climate change in a developing country such as Nicaragua, and what can be done to alleviate the problem. What can we, as Americans do to help?

While a silent Trappist monk in Scotland, Paul cobbled his guitar together from his Abbot's old toilet seat and other scraps. And left to sing Bob Dylan! Fifty odd years a minstrel, he now lives in Nicaragua, touring constantly to share - in story, song and practical programs - the example of that gallant little country in adapting to the climate emergency now affecting us all, even with extremely limited resources and against enormous odds.
