

LDS Business College to become Ensign College

Since its inception in 1886, LDS Business College has undergone various changes as the institution has responded to the marketplace, enabling it to provide valuable and relevant education for its students. With these goals in mind, the Board of Trustees of LDS Business College announced that LDS Business College will become Ensign College. This change will be effective at the beginning of the new academic year, September 1, 2020.

The new name was inspired by Ensign Peak, the spot above the Salt Lake Valley that Brigham Young said he had seen in a vision before leading the church's pioneers to the West in 1847.

Ensign College will offer more of its curriculum online, expanding its geographic reach to serve students beyond its Salt Lake City, Utah campus. Many of the courses will be facilitated through a close collaboration with BYU-Pathway Worldwide.

Additionally, Ensign College will also offer a limited number of Bachelor of Applied Science degrees in Business Management, Communications, and Information Technology which will be offered beginning Fall 2021. Ensign College will retain its accreditation status as a two-year college.
