SECOND-GENERATION SURVIVOR

EVELYN ALTENBERG

Evelyn Altenberg's parents were both born in Berlin, Germany and together eventually came to the U.S. after World War II. Their journeys, however, took very different routes. Her father found refuge in the Dominican Republic. Her mother spent three years in nine concentration camps, including Auschwitz. Evelyn's aunt, maternal grandparents, and other family members perished in the Holocaust. Evelyn uses her mother's words, through excerpts from videos and letters, to help tell her parents' story.
