

Manitoba Report

So far, the winter weather in Manitoba has not quite lived up to its fearsome reputation. Despite a slight warmup in November following some snowfall most of the Superintendents that I have spoken with are pleased with how winter is progressing. Snowfall has been adequate for coverage without being excessive as it was this past winter.

The past few months have been pretty quiet in Manitoba but some conferences/educational events are just around the corner. MGSA will have their Golf and Turf Conference March 6/7th which is just a couple weeks behind The Canadian being held in Vancouver. Both events look to be putting together a great education program and I am sure that many of you are excited to get back together in person after the past few years of restrictions.

Lastly, I would like to take a moment to thank all of those that supported the Fall Field Day at Southwood this past September. It was a great day with the course in great shape and a strong prairie wind showing up just in time to challenge all the competitors. Hopefully those that attended enjoyed some Manitoba hospitality and took the opportunity to explore the area.

I wish you all the best as you gear up for the upcoming season and look forward to seeing many of you in person in Vancouver.
