Saskatchewan November Regional Report

Winter has showed up in a hurry here this past week, with a few inches of snow falling and sticking around with the temperature hovering around zero. It looks like we'll be getting some sunshine and warmer weather next week so everyone can finish up any winter prep or fall projects they might not have gotten a chance to wrap up yet.

Here at The Legends, we were fortunate to host day one of the Fall Field Day on September 21st. It was a cool and windy day, but I hope everyone was able to enjoy the day and have some fun. On the 22nd we went to Riverside hosted by Doug Campbell, AGS and had a fantastic day. The weather was great and the golf course was even better. Doug and his team had the golf course in immaculate condition as always and did a great job showing off a true gem of a property here in Saskatchewan. It was a real pleasure to re-connect with old friends and meet so many great new people from across the country.

With the 2026 season behind us, I am reflecting on the great season we just had. We finally got some much-needed moisture (a bit too much at times) and were still able to have a busy and successful golf season across the province. With a long winter ahead, there will be lots of time to recharge the batteries, plan ahead and recalibrate for 2027.

I look forward to seeing many of you in Halifax for the Canadian Golf Course Management Conference February 23-25. I'm especially excited as I've never been to the Maritimes before and have been told I'm in for a real treat. It's shaping up to be another great event to network and gain invaluable education.
