

CGSA July GreenMaster Manitoba

Another heat wave is upon Manitoba with temperatures above 30 degrees. The season has been a real test of irrigation systems thus far contrasted from last years' very wet May and June. Overall golf courses are in good condition throughout the province. May and June provided some challenges in areas due to wildfire activity and closures but all areas of the province are once again open.

On July 8th the MGSA is hosting the John B. Steel tournament at Oakwood Golf Course in Ste. Anne, Manitoba with host Superintendent Steve McMaster. This promises to be a great day with 4 winners crowned champions and provided $1000 to attend the CGSA Fall Field Day at Club sur le Lac in Laval, Quebec to represent Manitoba.

Following the John B. Steel event will be our Turfgrass Research Tournament being hosted this year at Selkirk Golf and Country Club with host Superintendent Ian Brooks. This promises to be a great event with a skins game hosted the evening before the tournament followed by a social evening.

It seems as though it was April and early May only a short while ago and here, we are in early July. Please remember to take some time away from your golf course and enjoy some days of the summer away from the course or on the course with some clubs.

Respectfully submitted,

Dustin How, AGS
