Windows of Understanding

The vision for this public art project is to transform our “main street” spaces into literal windows of understanding; spaces in which the community can learn about the positive strides being made by local organizations around a wide array of social justice issues that don’t make daily headlines. Windows of Understanding is a creative, community-building response to the negativity and hate being perpetuated in today’s media landscape. Our belief is that through visual language, artists can communicate methods of understanding in powerful ways that cut across cultural boundaries.

Now in its fourth year, approximately 20 non-profit organizations will be paired with an artist facilitator to create an original work of art that addresses the following issues: CLIMATE CHANGE; FOOD INSECURITY; HEALING FROM TRAUMA; PUBLIC HEALTH; and YOUTH ENGAGEMENT. The works will be on display at venues throughout New Brunswick, Highland Park, and Metuchen, NJ from January 18- February 28, 2021.

New Brunswick Middle School Art Club 2018; We See Through Hate.

Students created eyes and in the iris they drew how they see and feel about hate. Some students showed how it feels to experience hate and discrimination and others drew how they see the world without hate.

Students created an art installation for Gun Violence. The students took old book bags and made them look like they had gunshots through them with blood splattered on the bags. They also added angel wings to the bookbags. The art club wanted to show all the lives lost in school shootings and how they fear this will happen to them.

This is my drawing.
The drawing is about a girl that is protesting and the other ones are like the spirit or reflection of who died.
