

Children's Mental Health Initiative (CMHI)

National Evaluation Web Event Training Series

Using a Trauma-Informed Approach for Evaluation

Thursday, August 3, 2017 | 1 – 2:30 pm ET

REGISTER NOW <https://goo.gl/Z4cbNu>

Trauma can impact evaluation and strategies are available to respond effectively. Presenters will discuss trauma issues in evaluation from the perspective of youth and families from whom data is collected when questions are sensitive and may create discomfort or negative emotions. They will also consider the perspective of youth and families who are collecting data, including the skills they need to identify and respond to trauma and how to handle their own trauma-related issues that may be triggered in this process. The Web Event will:

- Provide an overview of a trauma-informed framework for evaluation
- Identify techniques for data collection that use a trauma-informed approach
- Identify methods to recognize and respond to post-trauma responses from families and youth
- Identify strategies of self-care for data collectors

Presenters:

Steven T. Sullivan, PhD

Subject Matter Expert, Public Health,
The Cloudburst Group

Malisa Pearson

Project Coordinator, Family-Run
Executive Director Leadership
Association (FREDLA)

Brianne Masselli

Director of Technical Assistance and Evaluation, Youth MOVE National

Moderator:

Abram Rosenblatt, PhD

Project Director, CMHI National
Evaluation, Westat