

Approaches to Evaluating Services for Youth and Young Adults of Transition Age

Thursday, June 27, 2019

1:30-3:00 PM ET

Evaluating services for youth and young adults of transition age is essential for effectively measuring the quality and outcomes of the system of care (SOC) approach. This web event will discuss strategies for assessing services, supports, and systems that serve older youth and young adults with significant mental health needs. The discussion will focus on identifying assessment tools and strategies that are sustainable and efficient, and that produce data that is useful to stakeholders. After an overview of tools and strategies, stakeholders who are successfully doing this work will present examples of how findings have been used to support efforts to improve and sustain services and systems.

PRESENTERS

Janet S. Walker, PhD

Research Professor Regional
Research Institute
*Portland State University
Research and Training Center for Pathways to Positive Futures*

Pnina Goldfarb, PhD

Research Consultant for Wraparound Milwaukee
Children's Community Service
Milwaukee County Behavioral Health Division

MODERATOR

Abram Rosenblatt, PhD

Project Director
CMHI National Evaluation
Westat

REGISTER NOW

Click on the link or type into your web browser

<https://bit.ly/2W66QGb>

