CHREF SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

Growing the Next Generation

“Scholarships are everything! I wouldn't be able to even consider school without scholarships. To all donors, thank you so much! It's because of you that students like me can even think about going to school. We're meeting people and taking classes that shape who we are individually and who our society is, so thank you ”

Joelle Evans, Freshman student from Montana Studying Horticulture

"Scholarships are more than just generous donations, they are what motivate students like me to finish college and earn my degree. Many native families don’t have the resources or even the expectation to succeed in secondary school. Scholarships equate more than just money, they equate to time, effort and the will to succeed."

Aniwa Francis, Freshman student from Colorado Studying Horticulture

"With scholarships, I feel the ability to attend university is attainable. Without generous donations it would make affording college very difficult. I thank you so so much as without support like yours, students would not believe a good quality post-secondary education is in their future."

Kalunda Dymanda, Freshman Student from Arizona Studying Horticulture

“CSU scholarships provide students with the chance to have grace and prepare for their future even though heir families do not have the means to provide. There is hope for the future when people step outside of themselves and give to those who need help. Thank you so much!"

Mia Augustine, Freshman Student from Louisiana Studying Horticulture
