

Two parts. Having others involved and seeing the results of our efforts.

Being able to help in my own unique way.

Meeting new people.

Learning new things and being part of the Blackstone NHP/ NHC.

I love the cemetery work I have been doing.

The interactions with visitors and family members.

The camaraderie with such wonderful people who become life-long friends!

Being able to serve my community.

My favorite part(s) of volunteering have been Maple Sugar Days, making videos, and biking with other volunteers.

Knowing what a big difference you can make in your town and state. We do gravestone conservation work in Burrillville and elsewhere. It's knowing that we can bring dignity and respect back to old graveyards where our ancestors are buried.

There are so many things we love about volunteering for all these years!

I love doing and learning new things and meeting volunteers and participants from all walks of life that I wouldn't ordinarily meet in my regular day-to-day travels.

Meeting fellow travelers with concern for the environment and doing things that have a lasting impact.

Sharing with others enjoyment of the natural world along with commitment to improve it.

Giving back in honor of all that came before me.

It makes me happy to help others have the best possible time in whatever we are doing and lighten the load for the staff and volunteers as well.

Working with others on a project which impacts many.

Love helping, it's fun! I feel a part of something.
