

Webinars & Publications

Interested in the variety of school choice options? The Education Commission of the States (ECS) recently published the School Choice Glossary, which defines school choice options available to state policymakers, provides an overview of how states have approached these options, and links to ECS school choice resources. Also visit this link.

Seeking more information about the role of state boards of education in public charter schooling? The NASBE journal, The State Education Standard, recently published an issue devoted to this topic. The complete issue is at this link.

How can state chiefs use their opportunities for influence effectively? A March 2017 publication from the Center on Reinventing Public Education draws on interviews with current and former state chiefs to address this question. Authored by Paul Hill and Ashley Jochim, The Power of Persuasion: A Model for Effective Political Leadership by State Chiefs, is available for download at this link.

Looking for the latest on ways to improve how students learn? Edutopia manages a video series on “Schools That Work.” Visit this link to review case studies and other examples of practice from K-12 schools and districts.

Concerned about how to promote college and career readiness under ESSA? The College & Career Readiness and Success Center has archived its February 23 webinar on this topic at this link. The webinar features examples from states of accountability indicators that promote college and career readiness.

Are states producing college- and career-ready high school graduates? A recent report from Achieve, The State of American High School Graduates: What States Know (and Don't) About Student Performance, may be downloaded at this link. The report examines publicly reported student performance by state against college- and career-ready indicators to help state leaders determine their K-12 system's effectiveness on these measures.