About our virtual conference

The events of the past year have affirmed the need for all people to have access to a safe, affordable home and a healthy environment. And yet, we can clearly see that the world has shifted and with it the delivery of supportive housing will never be the same. The New Jersey Supportive Housing 22nd Annual Conference, Beyond the Looking Glass – Creating a New Community reflects the vision for a future with all the possibilities the recent challenges have opened to create a more inclusive world.

What can you expect? Our conference will have the look and feel of our in-person conference. There will be exhibitors, keynotes, workshops, awards and plenty of opportunities to network. The virtual platform we have chosen will allow a robust educational and networking opportunity for housing and service providers, community planners, housing developers, public officials, families/consumers and those interested in promoting and advancing supportive housing. Our virtual experience will engage a broader geographic network of those on the forefront of the supportive housing industry.

As always, our conference will allow all of our stakeholders, developers, service providers, advocates, families and consumers to create new and stronger partnerships to increase the resources to build accessible supportive options for people with special needs.

Registration information later in September.
