

Are you and your spouse between 60 and 80 years of age?

You two can make an important contribution to research by participating in our study.

The Life-Span Development Laboratory at Northwestern University is conducting a 3-hour study to understand how married couples (age 60-80) feel and talk to each other. We are located on the Evanston campus. If you participate in the study, each of you will receive $75 plus free parking or transportation.
