COVID-19 SPARKS CREATIVITY WITH AN OUTDOOR MARKET, A LIVE ONLINE BAND, AND TO-GO MENUS

In midst of the COVID-19 crisis and related governmental actions, including the stay-at-home order put in place on March 22, 2020, many tenants have stayed open for takeout or have found other ways to keep their customers returning. The Bishop Arts District has been abnormally quiet these past few weeks for a spot that is normally buzzing with visitors and tight on parking spaces; however, what's going on inside many spaces is another story. Zen Sushi, Oddfellows, and Dallas Grilled Cheese Co. are just a few restaurants continuing to serve their customers by offering carry out and delivery. Aside from cooking up their delicious to-go menu, Oddfellows has also opened an outdoor market at their location, stocked with many essentials including vegetables, fruit, bread, and even toilet paper. Around the corner, the 412 N Bishop space is closed to the public, but the Revelers Hall Band is very much alive inside, giving live concerts on Facebook Live and using their Venmo account (@the-band) for tips. While most retail shops are closed to the public, we encourage those who can to visit their favorite local shops online and help support small businesses!

KOKIE HAVEN'S NEW PRODUCT FEATURED IN D MAGAZINE

In our January Newsletter, Kookie Haven was recognized for their appearance on Trey's Chow Down Live Podcast where they showcased their new product, Ready-to-Bake Cake Batter. Only three months later, and we're glad to announce their product was featured in D Magazine as a "game changer"! Unfortunately, Kookie Haven is temporarily closed due to the Dallas restrictions during this pandemic, but many were quick to stock up on this cake-in-a-jar and frosting which can thankfully be stored in the freezer for up to three months. Before closing up shop, the sweet owners of Kookie Haven decided to bake all of their inventory and give it out for free to the public in pre-made goodie bags and cupcake boxes. Who knows how long it will be before our Kookie Haven cravings are satisfied, but we can't wait until we're able to support this wonderful bakery again.

THE SALTY READY TO OPEN ITS DOORS IN THE BISHOP ARTS DISTRICT

The Salty, formerly known as The Salty Donut, is ready to open in the Bishop Arts District! The Salty is updating its primary logo and name to reflect their goal to "create a supportive and welcoming community" everywhere they go and the idea that they are more than just a donut shop. Aside from their popular year-round donuts topped with candied bacon and filled with hazelnut infused chocolate, The Salty also offers coffee, tea, and an experience that makes you feel like family. Their third shop and first in Texas is awaiting their grand opening until the current global situation resolves in order to keep their employees, guests, and community safe. Until then, we can visit their Instagram page or website (www.saltydonut.com) for grand opening updates and a menu to plan ahead for our first order here in Dallas!

HARKENSBACK TURNS ITS CLOTHING SEWING STUDIO INTO A MAKE-SHIFT MASK PRODUCTION FACILITY

Following the City's Stay-At-Home order and closure of nonessential businesses, Harkensback was one of the many retail shops that had to shut its doors to the public. While this was devastating for the Bishop Arts business, owner Julie McCullough saw the dire need for masks and decided to make the most of their resources turning the Harkensback sewing studio into a mask production workshop to produce a variation of masks for those in need. With only five team members to design, cut, sew, and package these masks, Harkensback has still managed to create an average of 1,300 masks per week! We would like to thank all healthcare and service workers and those like Harkensback who are helping their community and frontline workers during this pandemic. To learn more about Harkensback's efforts, make a donation, or purchase your own mask, visit www.harkensback.com/collections/masks.
