

NJ COALITION AGAINST HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Kate Lee

Kate Lee is the Executive Director of the New Jersey Coalition Against Human Trafficking – a volunteer-based, survivor-inclusive organization which represents over 200 diverse organizations. Kate started working on the issue of human trafficking in 2006 with the Junior Leagues of New Jersey's State Public Affairs Committee, which she chaired from 2009-2011. She also co-chaired the NJCAHT's Legislative Committee for 8 years, helping to get some keys pieces of state legislation passed. Kate has a BA in Politics from the University of Warwick in the UK, and spent most of her working career as a BBC Radio News and Current Affairs Producer in London. Kate relocated to Tokyo with her family, where she worked for NHK - Japanese public radio and television, before moving and settling in the US.
