

The YCS Blossoms Art Exhibit celebrates the talents of children, ages 6-21 in YCS special education schools and therapeutic residences. This year the gallery comes alive as the children express themselves in an array of mediums, poetry, and live on-stage performances –including three exciting urban dance numbers choreographed by Solo Expressions. Blossoms was originally showcased in 2004 at a local public library. Several years later it caught the attention of the bergenPAC and has been featured there annually ever since. The exhibition has earned the reputation of touching the hearts of viewers and is a testament to what can happen when we encourage and believe in every child's creativity and potential.
