

Ernest Dorflinger, MD

A retired physician (neurologist), Ernest spent many years as a medical researcher, conducting clinical studies in the brain sciences. He has since been active in Citizen's Climate Lobby, and has trained in home electrification with Rewiring America and the HeatSmart Alliance. A certified Electrification Coach, he has presented his many talks on climate change and home electrification. His primary interests are in making homes both energy efficient and healthy spaces. Heat pumps that cleanly and efficiently heat and cool indoor air, as well as heat pump water heaters, are of particular interest to him
