We will be providing continuing education credits for medical providers, nurses, and social workers for this conference.

This conference is being supported, in whole or in part, by the Grant or Cooperative Agreement Number, NU17CE925007, funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Its contents are solely the responsibility of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official views of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention or the Department of Health and Human Services.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THE CONFERENCE:

This event is geared towards medical providers, nurses, labor & delivery specialists, NICU/PICU hospitalists, midwives, doulas, lactation consultants, social workers, public health professionals, treatment and recovery providers, and support services.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES:

- Learn about evidence-informed approaches and systems that improve health outcomes of pregnant and parenting people with substance use disorders, including promoting the use of medication for opioid use disorder (MOUD/MAT).
- Learn best practices on caring for newborns with neonatal abstinence syndrome (NAS) or neonatal opioid withdrawal syndrome (NOWS).
- Reduce barriers to care through compassion, reducing bias and equitable practices.

APPLY FOR A SCHOLARSHIP:

A limited number of scholarships are available to waive the registration fee for the conference. You may qualify for a scholarship if you:

- are a student studying a related field.
- are a resident in the medical profession.
- or work for a nonprofit that provides medical care or other resources for pregnant and parenting people with substance use disorders.

To apply for a scholarship, complete our online application form. Scholarship applications are due no later than July 15, and recipients should expect to hear back by the beginning of August.
