

Sebastian Fischer Bio:

Sebastian Fischer is the Deputy Superintendent for Cybersecurity Operations at the NYS Department of Financial Services where he assists with monitoring cybersecurity threats and trends; developing industry guidance, reports and advisories; and implementing divisional policies, procedures, and personnel strategies. He previously worked in private practice and at the United States Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency. Sebastian earned a juris doctor from the University of Notre Dame where he graduated with honors and a Master of Science in Information Security Policy and Management from Carnegie Mellon University where he graduated with highest distinction. He is a member of the bar in New York, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia and holds the CISSP from ISC2 and the CIPP/US, CIPM, and FIP from the IAPP.