

STUDENT TO STUDENT®

Judaism, in your own words.

Student to Student (STS) trains Jewish high schoolers to share their personal stories with non-Jewish peers, sparking real conversations that break down stereotypes and build understanding in 50 communities nationwide.

WHAT YOU'LL DO:

Engage classroom students in local high schools as a team of four Jewish teens representing different practices of Judaism. Teach about Jewish tradition through sharing personal stories about topics such as:

- The Jewish life cycle
- Shabbat
- Jewish food and Kashrut
- Hebrew
- Antisemitism and the Holocaust
- Your personal connections to Israel
- Jewish holidays
- ...and more!

The time commitment is one orientation meeting in the fall, then 1–2 presentations per semester (scheduled around your availability) with a 10–15 minute Zoom session before each presentation.
