Come see a local yarn dyer: Erin of Cup Of Tea Yarn. Her yarns are dyed using all natural materials: plants, food scraps (avocado skins and many more) and even bugs! Many of them are foraged in her yard and garden in the northern woods of Connecticut. Visit us during the crawl and see the beautiful colors that come from nature and get inspired by items made with naturally dyed yarns. Come in on Sunday 10/11 for a meet and greet with Erin from 2-4pm.

Westport Yarns is having a Fall Festival over our two Yarn Crawl Saturdays. On 10/10 we are featuring two artisans, Claire from Windover Farms and Samantha Guerin, a knitwear designer and spinner. Claire will talk about her farm and animals and how fleece goes from the animal to yarn. Also on that day we will have Samantha talking about her two passions in addition to selling her beautiful yarns.

Continuing on 10/17 for the second half of our Fall Festival we will have ceramic artist Jon Puzzoli, Head of Ceramic Arts at Silvermine School of Art, and Pam Lillis, Master Chef. Jon will be showing and selling his magnificent pieces ranging from mugs to yarn bowls and beyond! Pam will be speaking about her process and selling her award winning jams.
