

Clinical Assistant Professor
American Sign Language Interpreter Education Program

The Department of Educational Psychology, Special Education, and Communication Disorders of the College of Education & Human Development in conjunction with Perimeter College of Georgia State University seeks to hire a Clinical Assistant Professor to direct and teach the American Sign Language Interpreter Education Program. The Director is responsible for coordination of the program including staffing, on-going program evaluation, and monitoring of policies and procedures. Minimum requirements for this non-tenure track position include a Ph.D. in interpreter education, national certification as an ASL interpreter, knowledge of the Standards of the Commission on Collegiate Interpreter Education (CCIE), and at least 3 years of relevant experience in teaching, interpreting, and administration of a program. Candidates are encouraged from diverse backgrounds, including individuals who are Deaf. Salaries are commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, official transcript of highest degree earned and three letters of recommendation to:

Ruth Ebenezer
Educational Psychology, Special Education, and Communication Disorders
Georgia State University
PO Box 3979
Atlanta, Georgia 30302-3979

Please include the log number of the position to which you are applying in your letter of application. For more information, see <http://education.gsu.edu/faculty-staff-resources/faculty-positions> or email Dr. Judith Emerson, Chair, Search Committee (jemerson@gsu.edu).

Start date for this position is Fall 2017; the search will remain open until filled by a qualified candidate. Please be advised that should you be recommended for a position, University System of Georgia Board of Regents policy requires the completion of a background check as a prior condition of employment.