Region III Emergency Preparedness, Response, and Recovery Institute

Emergency preparedness, response, and recovery are essential components of any program's planning process. The National Center on Early Childhood Health and Wellness will provide information and resources to assist participants with the assessment and development of their agency's preparedness procedures. Federal and state resources on preparing, responding, and recovering from emergencies, disasters, and crises will be shared. The importance of physical, social, and emotional supports for children, staff, families, and the community will also be covered. Participants will have the opportunity to share their own experiences, identify potential threats unique to their community, and identify next steps for enhancing their Head Start program's procedures.
