Greg Layton Joins Think Bank as Senior VP of Business Banking

Think Bank is proud to announce the addition of a long-time banking leader, Greg Layton, as the Senior Vice President of Business Banking. This newly created position highlights Think's commitment to supporting businesses in the communities they serve.

"Our business customers appreciate our unique approach, trusted experience, and unwavering commitment to both their business and their teams," says Jenny Hosfeld, Chief Executive Officer. "Looking ahead at our strategic direction, we see significant opportunities to increase our support to businesses."

Layton, a native of Rochester, joins Think Bank with extensive experience across commercial banking, business banking, commercial real estate, wealth management, credit, and leadership. He takes pride in leading through his experience as a trusted advisor, with special focus on helping businesses navigate the ever changing financial landscape. In addition, he has served the community in various capacities including Board and committee positions for Paws & Claws, Habitat for Humanity, and Rochester Area Foundation.

"My career is driven by my desire to have a positive impact on people, businesses, and our community," Greg says. "Think Bank's longtime support of community is widely recognized, and I'm eager to contribute to their customer-focused approach."

Hosfeld adds, "Helping people find peace of mind and build better lives is why we exist. Leaders like Greg, along with our dynamic team, will help propel us forward and make a lasting impact in the communities we serve."
