HONORARY DEGREE

Rick Spencer

Vice President for Institutional Advancement (retired)

Few individuals have had a larger impact on North Central College than Rick Spencer. He began his 40-year career at the College in 1981, overseeing the admission and financial aid operations, first as director and then as vice president. He was appointed to the role of vice president for institutional advancement in 1992, a role in which he served until his retirement in July 2021. During his tenure as head of the advancement division, the College secured $300 million in financial gifts, pledges, and will commitments, including $125.8 million toward the Brilliant Future Campaign.

Spencer's fundraising toward capital projects has made the North Central campus what it is today. His efforts resulted in significant renovations to Old Main, Kiekhofer Hall and Koten Chapel, and Meiley-Swallow Hall. New facilities constructed during his tenure include the Wentz Concert Hall and Fine Arts Center, Wentz Science Center, Wentz Center for Health Sciences and Engineering, Benedetti-Wehrli Stadium, Zimmerman Stadium, Shanower Family Field, the Residence Hall/Recreation Center, Schneller Hall, and the Rolland Center Boilerhouse Café.

The 13 endowed faculty chairs that Spencer helped establish are a testament to his commitment to the College's educational mission. He also worked with the Board of Trustees to secure scholarship funds that have enabled dozens of international students to attend and earn their degrees from North Central.

Spencer's North Central College roots run deep. His parents, Wes '43 and Marian (Mickey) Stahl '43 Spencer, his sons Bradley '04 and Tyke '06, and daughters-in-law Nicolette Michelson '15 Spencer and Kalah Thorngren '07 Spencer, are all graduates of the College. Bradley is head coach of the Cardinal football team, and Tyke is a member of the College's Athletics Hall of Fame after a record-breaking career as a wide receiver on the football team.

Spencer is a 1974 graduate of Augustana College. He serves as an honorary member of the North Central College Board of Trustees. He and his wife, Patricia, are longtime residents of Naperville.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

Grace Nelles '22

Mt. Horeb, Wis.

Grace Nelles '22, an environmental studies major, has worn many 'hats' throughout her tenure on campus: a mentor, a vocalist, a leader, and a teammate. Her passion for learning and changing the world for the better has been contagious and permeated her accomplishments both inside and outside the classroom.

Nelles has served as president of North Central College's Women's Chorale, vice president of the Student Government Association, Focus music coordinator, sustainability intern and member of the dance team. Nelles is an activist with the heart to lead others into action. As a Climate Reality Leader, she engaged with the public to inspire them to act on climate change.

She has led by example, with strength and compassion. She is a natural teacher, able to see the big picture while attending to the intricacies of the human element. Post-graduation, Nelles will return to teaching as a naturalist on Catalina Island off the coast of California, and has plans to pursue a graduate degree in environmental education and conservation in New Zealand.

Bry'Shawna Walker '22

Lake in the Hills, Ill.

Bry'Shawna Walker '22, a political science major, has worked tirelessly to leave North Central College a better place than she found it. As a student, researcher, athlete, advocate and mentor, Walker's passion and admiration for North Central has been palpable throughout her time on campus.

Walker demonstrated leadership on the women's lacrosse team and the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. She worked on the Diversity Athletic Council, helping run focus groups for student-athletes to better understand minoritized athletes' experiences on their teams and on campus.

She has a rich and varied set of intellectual interests that have opened many doors for her in the political science arena. In spring 2021, Walker completed an internship with U.S. Representative Sean Casten. In fall 2022, she obtained a second internship with U.S. Senator Tammy Duckworth in Washington, D.C.

After graduation, Walker will participate in the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation's Summer Internship Program in Washington, D.C.

FACULTY EMERITUS

Judith Brodhead

Associate Professor of English Emeritus

Judith Brodhead exemplified devotion to her students and the campus community as a teacher, mentor, and leader for 32 years at North Central College.

Brodhead taught in the department of English, including courses in literature, film, urban and suburban studies as well as first-year orientation and master's courses in Leadership, Ethics and Values. She was heavily involved in the College's study abroad programs, serving as lead instructor for seminars in China, Ireland and Japan.

Brodhead mentored countless students as advisor for The Kindling, North Central's student-run humor magazine, and as co-coordinator of the First-Year Writing Program. She also served as assistant director of the Writing Center. A consummate colleague, Brodhead team-taught seminars with more than 15 different faculty members across a wide range of subject areas.

As administrative coordinator of cultural events, Brodhead chaired a committee of faculty, students, and staff to bring distinguished speakers and special events to the College. She created an agreement with Anderson's Bookshop that resulted in prominent authors visiting North Central, including Barbara Walters, Tom Brokaw, Caroline Kennedy, Rebecca Skloot, Bill Bryson, Stephen King, Jon Meacham, and many more.

Brodhead was elected to and served four terms on the Naperville City Council and chaired both the Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals. In addition, she was president of the local League of Women Voters from 2004 to 2008.

In 2000, the YWCA of Metropolitan Chicago named Brodhead their Outstanding Woman Leader. She was a finalist for the Naperville Jaycees' Distinguished Service Awards in Education.

Brodhead attended Douglass College of Rutgers University, where she earned her B.A. in 1973, and Rutgers University Graduate School of Arts & Sciences, where she earned an M.A. in 1976. Additionally, she completed the coursework and examinations for a Ph.D. in English at Rutgers University.

Maureen Kincaid

Professor of Education Emeritus

Maureen Kincaid helped build North Central College's reputation for excellence in education through her leadership in preparing teachers and principals to succeed in their careers. She joined North Central in 1998 as an assistant professor of education, after teaching at the elementary level and at Mount St. Clare College in Clinton, Iowa. Kincaid became an authority in the field of principal preparation and advocated for internship experiences for graduate students seeking leadership roles in schools. Among the hallmarks of her career were collaborative leadership, fostering partnerships, mentoring first-generation education majors through Teach First and expertise in reading, language arts and children's literature. Kincaid published and presented an extensive body of scholarship with her peers.

She advised student groups like North Central College's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society in Education and the Student Leaders Association of Teacher Educators, in addition to mentoring student-athletes on the women's soccer team. She was awarded tenure in 2004 and was promoted to full professor in 2014. Kincaid received the award for distinguished teaching by a senior faculty member in 2013.

Kincaid earned her B.S., M.S., and Ed.D. from Northern Illinois University.

Fukumi Matsubara

Professor of Japanese Emeritus

A passionate scholar of Japanese language and culture, Fukumi Matsubara built the Japanese language program at North Central College into the success it is today. Prior to Matsubara's arrival at the College in 1995, the fledgling program was the smallest in the Modern Classical Languages department. Her leadership helped the program grow into one of the top programs of its kind not just in Illinois, but in the nation. In 2009-2010, the National Center for Education ranked North Central's Japanese program as third best in the country in terms of enrollment and students graduating with a Japanese major among private colleges with fewer than 5,000 undergraduates.

In recognition of her inspired teaching, Matsubara earned the College's distinguished teaching award for junior faculty in 1999. A tireless supporter of study abroad programs, Matsubara secured numerous grants—including from the Omron Foundation—to provide North Central students with a wide range of opportunities to study in Japan. Matsubara also took great care assisting students from Japan during their transition to life at North Central. Thanks in large part to her efforts, the College has more direct exchange programs with Japan than any other country. Her enthusiasm has led numerous students to seek opportunities in Japan after graduation. During frequent visits to Japan to help inform her teaching and research, Matsubara enjoys reconnecting with many former students living and working throughout the country.

Matsubara earned her B.A. in English language and literature from Nara Women's University in 1981, her M.S.E. in applied linguistics and ESL from Georgia State University in 1990, and her Ph.D. in language education from Indiana University in 1997.

Jon Mueller

Professor of Psychology Emeritus

Jon Mueller's academic expertise is widely known in the field of student assessment, expertise he cultivated during his long history of teaching in the psychology department. He's been instrumental in helping individual faculty members and departments design assessments of their curriculum, which is a critical aspect of ensuring the quality of North Central's academic experience. In the classroom, Mueller is a popular and impactful educator, teaching thousands of students in courses like Introductory Psychology, Social Psychology, Educational Psychology, and a capstone seminar, the Psychology of Helping. Mueller not only enlightened his students about psychology, he also taught them how to study, to think clearly and to look for alternative explanations.

FACULTY EMERITUS

Mueller's role on campus as a mentor has been important to both faculty and students. He was a Fellow of North Central's Center for the Advancement of Faculty Excellence and was a founder of its predecessor, the Center for Teaching and Learning. In addition to advising student research projects and mentoring psychology majors, he's been a dedicated faculty mentor for the men's basketball team and the men's and women's tennis teams.

Off campus, he's known for his how-to book "Assessing Critical Skills," a website called "Authentic Assessment Toolbox" and his website and monthly newsletter "Teaching Social Psychology."

Mueller earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Beloit College and arrived at North Central in 1983 as an adjunct professor. In 1985, he completed a doctorate in personality and social psychology at the Northern Illinois University.

Caroline St. Clair

Professor of Computer Science Emeritus

Equipped with a passion for computer science and enthusiasm for teaching and mentoring, Caroline St. Clair retired with a 22-year distinguished career. During her time at North Central College, St. Clair was a vital part of the computer science department and helped mold it into what it is today.

She also served in leadership roles on campus throughout her time at North Central, including as associate dean for student success, director for First-Year Experience (FYE), and director of advising. She served as a member of the fall/spring semester academic planning teams and the academic programs assessment committees. As a first-generation professor, St. Clair participated in first-gen academic groups to aid in student success. Recognizing her remarkable impact on education, St. Clair received the College's distinguished teaching award for junior faculty in 2005.

During her career, St. Clair developed an interest in bioinformatics, a subdiscipline of biology and computer science, which was reflected in her teachings and writings. Stemming from this interest, St. Clair co-authored a bioinformatics textbook titled "Exploring Bioinformatics: A Project-Based Approach" with Jonathan Visick, professor of biology.

Prior to joining North Central, St. Clair held academic appointments at various Chicago area institutions, including DePaul University (1995 to 1998), Northwestern University (1992 to present), and Loyola University (1998 to 2000).

St. Clair earned her B.S. from Loyola University in computer science (1984) and her M.S. from DePaul University (1991). She went on to earn her Ph.D. in computer science from DePaul University (2000), where she wrote her dissertation on "A Useful Metric and Its Application to Decision Tree-Based Classification."

AWARDS

The Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service

The North Central College Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service was established in tribute to the eighth president of North Central College, who died in 1990 just one month before completing his 15th year as president. Under President Swing's leadership, the College substantially improved its physical facilities and financial condition while nearly tripling its enrollment; gained regional and national recognition for the quality of its academic programs, its faculty and its students; and instituted the Leadership, Ethics and Values Program. The Swing Award is presented at Commencement to recognize alumni, trustees and friends of North Central College whose service to the institution exemplifies the quality and integrity that were hallmarks of Gael D. Swing's distinguished tenure as president of North Central College.

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award is named in honor of a young man who died in an automobile accident in 1984 during his term as president of the North Central College Student Association. The recipient of this annual award is determined by a vote of the senior class. It is presented at Commencement to a student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership ability, served prominently as a positive influence in student affairs, encouraged active involvement of others in the life of the College community, and exemplified the qualities of citizenship associated with Mark A. Reid.

The Harold & Eva White

First Citizen of the College Award

The Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award was created to recognize a member of the North Central College family—faculty, staff or student—who exemplifies the best of the College. Established in 1992, the award honors the "unique spirit and legacy" of longtime editors and publishers of The Naperville Sun, the late Harold and Eva White, both Class of 1935.

Harold and Eva White displayed a special spirit and responsible citizenship on campus and in the larger community. Through their caring editorship of The Naperville Sun over more than a half-century, their philanthropy and their generosity, they helped shape North Central College and Naperville.

Eva White was a member of North Central College's Board of Trustees for 16 years and served as board secretary from 1986 until her death in 1990. She received an honorary doctor of letters degree in 1987. Harold White, who was named a North Central College Outstanding Alumnus in 1975, was awarded an honorary doctor of letters degree by the College in 1977 and was named an honorary trustee of the College in 1991. He passed away in 1993.

Candidates for Graduation

This program includes the names of candidates for degrees, for which they may be eligible, to be awarded in May, June, and August of 2022. However, inclusion in this program does not constitute evidence of completion of requirements for the degree. After the completion of final degree requirements has been verified by the Office of the Registrar, degrees will be formally conferred and students will receive their diplomas by mail.

The honors designations that are noted in this program reflect the student's Fall 2021 academic achievements. The student's diploma will reflect the final honors level.

Academic Regalia

The pageantry and color of an academic convocation such as today's Commencement come to us from early medieval times, when academic robes and regalia were adapted from ecclesiastical garb. Most robes were black to symbolize the democracy of scholarship, since they covered any dress indicating rank or social standing.

Three levels of academic achievement are represented by different types of gowns today. Successful completion of the bachelor's degree is symbolized by the bachelor's gown, made of black material with long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown is black and is identified by its oblong sleeve, square at the end and sealed. Master's degree recipients receive a hood edged in a color representing their degree: white for master of arts in liberal studies, higher education leadership, professional and creative writing, organizational leadership and sports leadership; light blue for education and instructional coaching; drab for business administration, financial management and human resource management; Rhodes blue for occupational therapy; and sage for athletic training.

Although some universities prescribe a solid color such as red or green for doctoral gowns, most in the United States are black. Doctoral gowns have vertical stripes of velvet trim on each front facing, and crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. This trim may be black, or it may match the edging of the hood, which indicates the profession or field of major interest. These gowns have bell-shaped sleeves.

The length and shape of the academic hood, and the width of its velvet edging, identify the level of the degree the wearer has earned, while the color of the velvet edging indicates the field or discipline in which the degree was granted.

Because members of the North Central College faculty completed their graduate work at many different educational institutions in this country and abroad, there will be a variety of raiment in today's procession. Some degree holders wear no hood because their academic robe itself symbolizes the degree awarded.

For formal processions, members of North Central's Board of Trustees wear doctoral gowns and hoods with a red and white lining to represent the College. The gown and hood worn by President Troy D. Hammond reflect his doctoral degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Cardinal red and silver gray, the official school colors of MIT, also appear in his headwear.

Caps, generally mortarboards with tassels, have their own significance. Some international degree holders wear special hats distinctive to their degree and institution. Master's and bachelor's tassels are black, while the doctorate tassel may be black or gold. Undergraduate students wearing gold tassels on their caps today are graduating with honors—cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude.

Seal & Presidential Medal

The North Central College seal was designed in 1925 for Pfeiffer Hall to symbolize North Central's early academic tradition: religion, signified by the lamp, and learning, represented by the book. The words "lux" and "veritas" mean "light" and "truth" in Latin.

The seal is featured on the presidential medallion, which is worn by the president in ceremonies requiring academic regalia. The medallion reflects the president's authority, responsibility and role as representative of the campus community. Cast in bronze, the medal is inscribed with the names and service dates of the previous nine presidents.
