

California Health and Human Services Agency (CalHHS)

We're Hiring!

CALIFORNIA INITIATIVE TO ADVANCE PRECISION MEDICINE (CIAPM)

Student Assistant - Science Communications and Research Administration (Remote)

- California-based graduate student completing a Master's or doctoral degree at a UEI-eligible California institution to work 12-24 hours a week supporting staff and partners of CIAPM. Duties include supporting CIAPM staff with administrative duties and supporting administration of CIAPM-funded research projects. In addition, assistant will generate, design, and distribute public reports. UEI account/login required.

Minimum qualifications: Pursuing a relevant degree in biomedical sciences, knowledge of biomedical or public health research in depression and adverse childhood experiences, interest in representative research, ability to learn publication and graphics design software, strong communication skills.

APPLY NOW

California Initiative to Advance
Precision Medicine

The Precision Medicine Team at CalHHS is dedicated to reducing health disparities by working with cross-sector leaders and investing in equitable innovation and collaborations in research and healthcare.

Applications Due: September 5, 2025

FOR MORE INFORMATION

CIAPM@CHHS.CA.GOV