Meet Rabbi Daniel Kripper

Rabbi Kripper has an extensive career, including studies in sociology and social psychology. Throughout his wide experience, he has specialized in education, life coaching and spiritual counseling. He received his Rabbinical Ordination from the Latin American Rabbinical Seminary in Buenos Aires, after finishing a rabbinical program in Jerusalem and postgraduate studies at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He was a professor and dean at the Rabbinical Seminary in Buenos Aires, and has served as a rabbi for congregations in Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Aruba and the United States.

He has directed healing and emotional support programs for the ill and their families, has been deeply involved in interfaith dialogue, and has acted as an advisor for international interfaith organizations.

In 2003, Rabbi Kripper received an Honorary Doctorate from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America for his successful service in spiritual leadership. He is the author of Virtudes Captales — a commentary on Ethics of the Fathers, and several articles and publications. He currently resides and works in New England.

This workshop will help you to :

- Overcome fear and transform it into fuel
