From the Principal's Desk

Here we go! Distance Learning has become a reality and we in the High School are ready! One of the things that we believe will be the most challenging for every member of our school community is to send just the right amount of communication.

In terms of what you can expect from the High School Office, our objective is to keep you informed, but not to overwhelm you with information. We will continue with our weekly newsletter to keep you informed about any changes to our Distance Learning Plan and we will continue to be available for questions and concerns. We remind you that our Communication Flowchart remains in place and that you should contact your child's teacher first if you have any questions about a specific class. As seen in the Middle/High School Distance Learning Schedule, teachers have office hours where they can meet you through video conference (which we believe will be more effective than email). Our Counselors and Associate Principals are also available throughout the day so do not hesitate to make appointments to video conference with them should you need to discuss anything related to your child.

Although learning will look different over the next few weeks, we believe this is a great opportunity to instill more responsibility in our students and to explore different tools for learning. We are all highly committed to keeping your child's learning on pace and we are here to support you as well! Please do not hesitate to reach out.
