Test-optional college admissions are quickly disappearing! Currently, over two-thirds of American colleges and universities have returned to test-required or test-recommended admissions. The Ohio State University now requires test scores from all its applicants, abandoning the test-optional experiment. To be sure, selective colleges, special programs, and merit-based scholarship providers see a student's performance on the SAT or ACT as a highly critical factor in their evaluation of that student's academic prowess. Colleges that remain test optional consistently admit a higher percentage of their applicants who provide test scores than students whose applications do not contain them. In short, in a post-COVID world, college entrance exams are regaining their importance.

Our six-hour preparation seminar helps demystify the SAT by explaining

- the test's structure,
- the academic content covered on it, &
- testing & time management strategies students can employ to maximize their performance.

Students learn specific, tangible strategies to answer more questions correctly, how to decipher questions designed to thwart their performance, & specific academic content that is regularly tested on the SAT.

Each participant gets

- six hours of live, in-person, engaging, interactive instruction,
- a guided outline of strategies to approach the SAT,
- a comprehensive reference workbook with hundreds of genuine College Board sample questions and detailed answers,
- a 4-week SAT study plan, &
- free, live, phone-in, pre-test tutoring,

Next Level Prep is a national leader in SAT & ACT preparation. We currently work with over 100 high schools here in Ohio alone & thousands of students (urban, suburban, & small town/rural) each year in states around the country. Our typical students see an 80- to 100- point increase on the SAT after taking our seminar.

Our engaging instructors consistently score 94%-plus A ratings on student evaluations. So, students emerge justifiably confident—with decidedly less anxiety—about their prospects on the test.
