Deacon Greg Ollick, M.A. Bio

Deacon Greg Ollick was ordained for the permanent diaconate of the Archdiocese of Atlanta on February 10th, 2007. Since then he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Theological Studies and a Master of Arts degree in Theology at Saint Joseph's College. These two degrees have helped equip him for his multi-faceted teaching ministry. Deacon Greg has been the director of Christian Initiation and Adult Faith Formation at a large suburban parish (Saint John Neumann in Lilburn, GA) since 2008. His experience includes developing and teaching courses/sessions at the parish and diocesan level as well as for the diaconate formation program in the Archdiocese of Atlanta.

He also leads retreats, missions, catechetical workshops and sessions on specific theological topics throughout North Georgia. Recently Deacon Greg joined Saint Joseph's College as an adjunct faculty member in the Catechist Certification Program. His main areas of interest include Sacramental Theology, Sacred Scripture, Evangelization and Catholic Apologetics. His personal ministry website is: www.DeaconGregOllick.com. Deacon Greg and his wife, Janice, live in Atlanta and enjoy running, hiking, and all water sports.
