

My 7-year-old daughter Veronica, who has been in Atrium for five years, loves to sing and express her faith in songwriting. This summer, she participated in our Atrium's sacramental series, which culminated in a four-day retreat. After the second day of retreat, Veronica came home and wrote this song. I believe she was pondering in her heart all the sacraments she had received or would soon be receiving: Baptism as an infant, First Reconciliation the next day, and First Holy Communion two days later.

Jesus,
That night I was blue
But I was only two.
I didn't know about you.
What could I do
With Jesus?

With Jesus,
You can do anything.
You can do anything.
So go, go, go, go, go, go, go!

When I was baptized,
I wasn't in a river of lies.
I had the Holy Spirit forever.

With Jesus
With Jesus
You can do anything.
You can do anything.
So go, go, go, go, go, go, go!

When I died, I was good.
But I . . . came alive!
Came alive!
